

Environment

Environment Policy

- Flinders Mines is committed to carrying out exploration and achieving economic development while maintaining the environment.
- The Company observes all environmental laws and complies with all applicable legal requirements and regulations.
- Flinders Mines adopts and adheres to standards that are protective of the environment by integrating environmental factors into planning and operational decisions and processes.
- Flinders Mines promotes environmental awareness among company personnel and contractors to increase understanding of environmental matters.
- Each employee (including contractors) is held accountable for ensuring that those employees, equipment, facilities and resources within his or her area of responsibility are managed in order to comply with this policy and to minimise environmental risk.
- Throughout all phases of their activities, Flinders Mines personnel and contractors give proper consideration to the care of the flora, fauna, air, land and water and conserve important populations of flora and fauna that may be affected by our activities.
- We assess the potential environmental effects of our activities, and regularly monitor and audit our environmental performance.
- The Company's aim is to prevent unnecessary environmental impact and to rehabilitate any disturbed sites as near as possible to their original condition. It will follow guidelines of Government departments and statutory authorities.
- The Company will communicate with the public on environmental matters.
- The Board and employees of Flinders Mines Limited believe that sound environmental performance is essential to the success of the company.